

Questions and Answers

The following question was asked by an offeror:

Question: I am curious if any of the previous coatings on any of the (4) tanks contain any lead based paint products?

Answer: We did have tanks tested for lead. The inside was not tested but in recent years was sandblasted and painted with Tnemec paint which is lead free-so the inside is clear. I do remember three of the tanks were clear and one had a trace amount but when mixed with blast media would be acceptable for land fill.
